Issue overview

Welcome to the second issue of this year's AI Matters Newsletter. We open with a conference report by Louise Dennis, followed by a summary of events happening during 2022-2023 by Dilini Samarasinghe. This third article is a collection of responses to blue sky questions about AI education from the AAAI/ACM SIGAI New and Future AI Educator Program. Finally, the last issue by Register et al. discusses the pillars of joy and justice for AI, Machine Learning, and Data Science education.

Submit to AI Matters!

Thanks for reading! Don't forget to send your ideas and future submissions to AI Matters! We're accepting articles and announcements now for the next issue. Details on the submission process are available at <http://sigai.acm.org/aimatters>.

Ziyu Yao is co-editor of AI Matters. She is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Science at George Mason University. Her research interests lie in natural language processing (NLP) and artificial intelligence (AI), particularly building natural language interfaces that can reliably assist humans in knowledge acquisition and task completion. She also works in NLP/AI for other disciplines such as Software Engineering and Bioinformatics.

Anuj Karpatne is co-editor of AI Matters. He is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Science at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (Virginia Tech). He leads the Physics-Guided Machine Learning (PGML) Lab at Virginia Tech, where he develops novel ways of integrating scientific knowledge (or physics) with machine learning methods to accelerate scientific discovery from data.
