Issue overview

Welcome to the last issue of this year's AI Matters Newsletter. We will open this issue by a conference report by Louise Dennis. Dilini Samarasinghe will then summarize the upcoming events in the last month of 2022 and early months of 2023. We wish everyone a joyful end of year, and look forward to your continuing involvement in 2023!

Thanks for reading! Don't forget to send your ideas and future submissions to AI Matters! We're accepting articles and announcements now for the next issue. Details on the submission process are available at <https://sigai.acm.org/main/ai-matters/>.

Ziyu Yao is co-editor of AI Matters. She is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Science at George Mason University. Her research interests lie in natural language processing (NLP) and artificial intelligence (AI), particularly building natural language interfaces that can reliably assist humans in knowledge acquisition and task completion. She also works in NLP/AI for other disciplines such as Software Engineering and Bioinformatics.

Anuj Karpatne is co-editor of AI Matters. He is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Science at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (Virginia Tech). He leads the Physics-Guided Machine

Learning (PGML) Lab at Virginia Tech, where he develops novel ways of integrating scientific knowledge (or physics) with machine learning methods to accelerate scientific discovery from data.
